CENSUS OF POPULATION, 1966.

EXPLANATORY NOTES.

A Census of Population was taken on the night of 17 April, 1966, in accordance with the Statistics (Census of Population) Order, 1966 (S.I. No. 40 of 1966), made by the Taoiseach in pursuance of powers conferred on him by sub-section (1) of Section 16 of the Statistics Act, 1926 and the Statistics Acts, 1926 and 1946 (Transfer of Ministerial Functions) Order, 1949 (S.I. No. 142 of 1949).

The following particulars were collected in respect of each individual:- (i) Name, (ii) relationship to head of household, (iii) sex, (iv) date of birth and (v) marital condition, and for persons aged 14 years or over, (vi) principal occupation, (vii) employment status (i.e. whether employer, employee etc.), (viii) name of employer and employer's business, (ix) area and rateable valuation of agricultural land held, (x) age at which full-time education ended and types of school, college etc. attended (for persons who had ceased their full-time education). In addition, the head of each private household was asked to state the number of rooms in the dwelling occupied by the household.

This Volume gives detailed classifications of the whole population and the populations of different areas according to age and conjugal condition. Volume I, which was published on 30 May, 1967, contains details of the population classified by sex and by place of residence. Subsequent Volumes will be published in due course covering other aspects, as follows:-

- Volume III — Industries
- Volume IV — Occupations
- Volume V — Occupations classified by ages and conjugal condition
- Volume VI — Housing and households
- Volume VII — Education

COVERAGE OF THE CENSUS

The Census figures relate to the de-facto population, i.e. the population recorded for each area represents the total of all persons present within its boundaries on the night of 17 April, 1966, together with all persons who arrived in that area on the morning of Monday, 18 April, 1966, not having been enumerated elsewhere. Persons on board ships in port are included with the population of adjacent areas. The figures, therefore, include visitors present on Census night in addition to residents, but Irish persons temporarily absent from the State on Census night are excluded. The date of the Census was, however, chosen to coincide with a period of low passenger movement and consequently the figures closely approximate to those for the normally resident population.

Members of the Defence Forces who, on Census date, were serving with the United Nations Forces abroad were, of course, excluded from the enumeration. The total number of officers and men concerned was 537.

CONTENT OF THE TABLES

The layout of the main tables of the present volume is identical with that followed in the corresponding volume of the 1961 Census.

Tables 1A to 8C are concerned with comparisons with earlier censuses and derived figures such as percentages single in the various age groups, distributions by age groups and females per 1,000 males.

Table 9 shows the total population classified by year of age, sex and conjugal condition, while Table 10 shows the numbers of persons, males and females of or over each year of age. This table is particularly useful in deriving the numbers of persons within any required age range. For example, to ascertain the number of persons aged between seventeen and sixty-five years, it is necessary simply to subtract the figure for persons aged sixty-five years or over from the number aged seventeen years or over.

The remaining tables of the volume are concerned with classifications for particular units of area. Table 11 shows individual years of age up to sixty-nine years for Provinces, Counties and County Boroughs while Table 12 shows five-year age groups by conjugal conditions for these areas. Table 13 shows five-year age groups and conjugal conditions for individual Urban and Rural Districts, the Environs of Urban Districts, towns under the Towns Improvement Act and their Environs (if any) and other towns of 1,500 population or over while Table 14 shows similar classifications for the Wards in Dublin County Borough. It should be noted that Rural Districts, which number 160, have been abolished as administrative areas. They are, however, retained for Census purposes since they afford a convenient sub-division of Counties for the presentation of the various classifications. A map showing County and Rural District boundaries is given on page ii. Table 15 shows the populations of Superintendent Registrars' and Registrars' Districts classified by five-year age groups. Registrars' Districts are used in the administration of the Public Health services and in the registration of births, marriages and deaths. The number of Registrars' Districts is 651 and these aggregate to Superintendent Registrars' Districts, of which there are 126. In many cases Superintendent Registrars' Districts coincide with Rural Districts plus any adjoining Urban Districts.

Finally, Table 16 shows the populations of Aggregate Town and Aggregate Rural Areas, classified by five-year age group and conjugal condition. The definition of the Aggregate Town Area is the same as that used in Volume I of the 1966 Census and in the various volumes of the 1961 Census and covers all population clusters of 1,500 persons or over. More precisely, the Aggregate Town Area of the State comprises the following:-

The four County Boroughs and their Suburbs (if any).

The Borough of Dun Laoghaire and its Suburbs.

The six Municipal Boroughs and their Suburbs (if any).

Forty-eight Urban Districts and their Environs (if any).

Twenty-one towns under the Towns Improvement (Ireland) Act, 1854 and their Environs (if any), having populations, when their Environs are included, of 1,500 or more persons.

Twenty-four towns without legally defined boundaries having populations of 1,500 persons or over.

The Aggregate Rural Area comprises all other areas, including towns of under 1,500 total population. In particular, one Urban District and eight Towns under the Towns Improvement (Ireland) Act, 1854 which, even when the populations of their Environs are added, do not reach 1,500 persons, fall within the Aggregate Rural Area.

COMMENTARY

CHANGES IN AGE DISTRIBUTION

In Table 1A of this Report, the total population of the State at each Census 1926 to 1966 is shown, classified by five-year age group and conjugal condition, while in Tables 1B and 1C similar classifications are given for males and females. The figures for broad age groups are summarised in the following table:-

TABLE I:- POPULATION IN CERTAIN AGE GROUPS - 1926 TO 1966.

Between 1961 and 1966, when the total population increased by 66,000 or 2.3 percent the number of children under 15 years rose by 23,000 or 2.6 percent and the number of persons in the 15 to 29 year age group showed a very substantial increase of 57,000 or 10.6 percent. A fall of 26,000 or 5.2 percent occurred in the numbers in the 30 to 44 year age group, while slight increases occurred in both the 45 to 64 year and 65 year and over groups. The pattern of increases and decreases between 1961 and 1966 was broadly similar for males and females except that, at ages 65 years and over, the number of females showed a considerably greater increase than that of males. The distributions of the population by age groups in 1961 and 1966 are illustrated in the form of "population pyramids" in DIAGRAMS 1 AND 2.

Over the forty-year period, 1926 to 1966, when the total population declined by 3.0 percent very substantial falls occurred in the numbers of young adults, amounting to 19.9 percent in the 15 to 29 year age group and 12.1 percent in the 30 to 44 year age group. On the other hand considerable increases occurred in the older age groups, namely 7.1 percent in the 45 to 64 year group and 18.9 percent in the 65 year and over group. The number of children under 14 years was slightly higher (3.7 percent) in 1966 than 1926, having fallen sharply between 1926 and 1936 and risen steadily subsequent to 1936. The percentage changes for each five-year age group for each intercensal period from 1946 are given in Table 3 while Table 4 gives the corresponding average annual rates of change.

The effect of the changing numbers in the different age groups on the overall percentage distribution by age is shown in TABLE II.

TABLE II:- PERCENTAGE DISTRIBUTION OF POPULATION IN CERTAIN AGE GROUPS - 1926 TO 1966.

DIAGRAM 1. DISTRIBUTION OF THE POPULATION BY AGES, 1961.

DIAGRAM 2. DISTRIBUTION OF THE POPULATION BY AGES, 1966.

Between 1926 and 1961 young adults (i.e. those in the 15 to 44 year group) represented a decreasing proportion of the total population while the proportions in the 45 to 64 and 65 year and over groups increased. The proportion in the 15 to 44 year group rose very slightly between 1961 and 1966 due, as will be seen from a later section of this Commentary, to a reduced rate of emigration of young adults in this period. Children under 15 years represented an increasing proportion of the total population at each Census since that of 1936. The final column of TABLE II shows the dependency ratio, i.e. the numbers in the "dependent" age groups 0 to 14 years and 65 years and over as a proportion of the total population. The proportion in the dependent groups has risen fairly substantially over the forty-year period, from 38.3 percent in 1926 to 42.4 percent in 1966.

AGE DISTRIBUTION BY AREA

Considerable differences exist in the distribution of the population by age within different areas of the country. TABLE III, which follows (derived from Table 16), compares the age distributions in Aggregate Town and Aggregate Rural Areas, while the distributions of the population by age groups in Aggregate Town and Aggregate Rural Areas are illustrated in DIAGRAMS 3 AND 4.

TABLE III:- PERCENTAGE DISTRIBUTION OF POPULATION IN AGE GROUPS FOR AGGREGATE TOWN AND AGGREGATE RURAL AREAS, 1966.

Age group	Persons		Males		Females
	Aggregate Town Areas	Aggregate Rural Areas	Aggregate Town Areas	Aggregate Rural Areas	Aggregate Town Areas	Aggregate Rural Areas
0 - 14 years	32.2	30.2	34.5	29.3	30.2	31.3
15 - 44 "	39.8	33.6	39.7	34.4	40.0	32.8
45 - 64 "	18.9	22.9	18.3	23.5	19.4	22.1

Total	100.-	100.-	100.-	100.-	100.-	100.-

It will be seen that the rural population contains much the higher proportion of persons in the upper age groups. Thus 36.2 percent of persons in the rural areas were aged 45 years or over compared with 28.0 percent in town areas. The age distribution in each County and County Borough (derived from Table 12) is shown in TABLE IV.

DIAGRAM 3:- DISTRIBUTION OF THE POPULATION BY AGE GROUP IN THE AGGREGATE TOWN AREA, 1966.

DIAGRAM 4:- DISTRIBUTION OF THE POPULATION BY AGE GROUP IN THE AGGREGATE RURAL AREA, 1966.

The highest proportion of children under 14 years occurred in Dublin County (excluding Dun Laoghaire Borough), followed by Limerick County Borough, Kildare, Offaly and Carlow. The lowest proportion of children occurred in Dun Laoghaire Borough, followed by Leitrim, Clare, Roscommon and Donegal. In the case of persons 65 years and over the proportions were highest in Leitrim, Roscommon, Mayo, Clare and Sligo and lowest in Dublin County (excluding Dun Laoghaire), Limerick County Borough, Kildare, Dublin County Borough and Cork County Borough.

TABLE IV also shows the numbers in the "dependent" age groups, i.e. under 14 years and 65 years and over, as a percentage of the total. The highest proportion in the dependent groups occurred in Mayo, Westmeath, Roscommon, Carlow and Offaly. The areas having the lowest percentage in the dependent age groups were the Borough of Dun Laoghaire and Dublin County Borough, followed by Cork County Borough, Waterford County Borough and Louth.

THE SEX RATIO

At each Census there has been an excess of males in the population as a whole. However the number of females per 1,000 males varies between the different age groups. The ratios are compared in TABLE V for each Census since 1926 and for Aggregate Town and Aggregate Rural Areas. It should be noted that the Aggregate Town and Aggregate Rural Areas referred to here are as defined at the dates of the respective Censuses. It is not possible, owing to changes in town boundaries, to ensure that the figures for the different years relate to identical areas (see Volume I, page xiii).

1961	887	945	801	901	840	939
1966	892	954	809	902	837	964

The number of females per 1,000 males in the State in 1966 was 990, the same figure as in 1961. Decreases in the female/male ratio at ages 15-29 years and 15-44 years were offset by increases at ages 0-14 years and 65 years and over. Between 1961 and 1966 the female/male ratio decreased slightly in the Aggregate Town Areas and increased slightly in the Aggregate Rural Areas. In Aggregate Town Areas there was some reduction in the female/male ratio at ages from 15 to 64 years but at ages 65 years and over the number of females per 1,000 males rose substantially, attaining the very high value of 1,522 in 1966.

In the case of the Aggregate Town Areas, the total number of females per 1,000 males in 1966 was 1,103—the same as it was in 1926. A fall in the female/male ratio over the forty-year period at ages 0-14 years was balanced by an increase in this ratio at ages above 45 years, little change occurring at ages between 15 and 44 years. The female/male ratio for all ages showed a decline between 1926 and 1966 in the Aggregate Rural Areas, this fall being mainly concentrated in the age groups 15-29 years and 65 years and over.

CONJUGAL CONDITIONS

The numbers of persons, males and females classified by age group and conjugal condition at Censuses from 1926 to 1966 are shown in Tables 1A, 1B and 1C. The totals from these tables for males and females aged 15 and over are summarised in TABLE VI which follows:-

It will be seen that a steady increase occurred over the forty-year period in the number of married males and females, there being 17.2 percent more married males and 17.3 percent more married females in the State in 1966 than in 1926 despite the fall of 3.0 percent in the total population in that period. At each Census the number of married females slightly exceeded that of married males, the excess being greatest in 1946. The number of widowed males showed a considerable decline since 1926, most of this decline occurring in the years after 1951 and amounting to 31.2 percent over the forty-year period. A fall also occurred in the number of widowed females, amounting to 6.6 percent between 1926 and 1966. The numbers single tended to decline throughout the period, reaching their lowest level in 1961, but showing a very slight increase from 1961 to 1966.

The percentages single within certain age groups in 1966 and at earlier Censuses are compared in TABLE VII. In this case comparisons over an extended period are of interest and the figures insofar as they are available are shown back to the year 1841.

* Age groupings for 1841 were 26-35, 36-45, 46-55 and 56 and over.

/ Particulars not available.

In recent years very considerable reductions have occurred in the percentages single in the younger age groups. Thus for males aged 25 to 34 years the percentage single fell from 73.8 in 1936 to 49.8 in 1966 while for females in this age group the corresponding percentage fell from 54.8 to 31.0. In the 45 to 54 year age group the percentage of males who were single dropped from 33.5 in 1936 to 29.1 in 1966, while for females the corresponding figures were 25.1 and 20.8 percent. In the 55 to 64 year group, however, there was little change in the percentages single between 1936 and 1966, while in the 65 year and over group the percentages single showed a rise from 1936 to 1966. It will be noted that, in the case of females, the percentage single in the 65 year and over group was somewhat greater in 1966 than the figures for the age groups 35 to 64 years.

Comparable figures are not available for all age groups over the entire period 1841 to 1966. It may be seen, however, that in the case of males in the 25 to 34 year group the proportion single showed a sharp increase between 1841 and 1851, rising, in 1911, to a peak of 74.5 percent and subsequently tending to decline, the 1966 figure of 49.8 percent being the lowest observed since 1841. Similar remarks apply in the case of the 25 to 34 year group for females. In the later age groups, despite the reductions in percentages single in recent years, these percentages, in 1966, remained considerably above their level a century earlier.

The percentages single for males and females in the age groups 25 to 34 years and 55 to 64 years are illustrated in DIAGRAM 5.

The trends between 1926 and 1966, in the percentages single in the various age groups in the Aggregate Town and Aggregate Rural Areas are shown in TABLE VIII.

DIAGRAM 5.

SINGLE MALES AND FEMALES AS PERCENTAGE OF TOTAL AT AGES 25-34 AND 55-64, 1841 TO 1966.

In the case of males in the younger age groups, the percentages single, both in Aggregate Town and Aggregate Rural Areas showed pronounced downward trends between 1926 and 1966. In the Aggregate Town Areas the percentages single in the various age groups were very much lower at each Census than in the Aggregate Rural Areas. In addition, the rate of decrease in the percentage single was much greater in the town than in the rural areas.

The differences between the Aggregate Town and Aggregate Rural Areas as regards percentages single were not so marked in the case of females at the younger ages, the figures for the town areas being little different from those for the rural areas. In the higher age groups the percentages of single females were considerably greater at all the Census dates shown, in the Aggregate Town than in the Aggregate Rural Areas.

Finally, in this section, the percentages of males and females in the age group 25 to 34 years who were single are compared in respect of different sizes of town in TABLE IX which relates to the 1966 Census only.

TABLE IX:- PERCENTAGE SINGLE AT AGES 25 - 34 IN CERTAIN TYPES OF TOWN AREAS AND IN RURAL AREAS, 1966.

	Dublin and Dun Laoghaire and Suburbs	Other Co. Boroughs and Suburbs	Other Towns with over 10,000 inhabitants	Towns with 5,000-10,000 inhabitants	Towns with 1,500-5,000 inhabitants	Rural Areas
Males	35.2	36.3	40.2	42.3	42.0	64.3
Females	30.9	28.3	31.8	32.1	30.5	31.6

It will be seen that, for males, the percentage single tended to rise with decreasing town size whereas, for females, there was little difference between the different areas.

MIGRATION

No information is available on the total numbers of emigrants from or immigrants to the State. However, estimates of net emigration, that is the excess of the number of emigrants over that of immigrants, can be made for the periods between Censuses by using statistics of births and deaths registered in conjunction with the Census results. These estimates, for a number of intercensal periods, are published in Volume I of the 1966 Census of Population (Table 1).

The effect of migration on the age structure may be examined by comparing the numbers of persons within the various age groups at each Census with the expected numbers of survivors out of the groups five years younger at the preceding Census. This has been done for the intercensal periods 1946-51, 1951-56, 1956-61 and 1961-66 in TABLES X to XIII. It will be appreciated that the assumptions made in regard to mortality influence to a considerable degree the results presented in these tables. TABLES X TO XIII cannot, in consequence, be regarded as having the same degree of accuracy as the remaining tables in this Volume.

In estimating the numbers of survivors, the appropriate factors based on the 1946, 1951 and 1961 Life Tables were first calculated and from these, values for the mid-points of the five-year intervals 1946-51, 1951-56 and 1956-61 obtained by interpolation or projections. For the period 1961-66 the 1961 Life Table values were used. In the case of the under 5 years age group the survivors are calculated from the numbers of births which were registered in the State in the preceding five years.

It should be noted that the classification of the population by age group for 1956 was based, not on a complete population count, but on a ten percent sample of the 1956 Census of Population returns. Although a question on date of birth was asked at the 1956 Census it was decided, at that time, for reasons of economy, not to process the results. In view of the need for information on ages for the compilation of death rates and analytical purposes generally, it was subsequently decided to extract the figures on a sample basis.

Net migration reduced the population by 116,600 persons in the period 1946-51, by 188,500 in the period 1951-56, by 208,800 in the period 1956-61 and by 77,400 in the period 1961-66. It will be noted that these figures are slightly below those for the estimated net emigration in the respective periods which are as follows:-

Period	Net emigration
1946-51	119,568
1951-56	196,763
1956-61	212,003
1961-66	80,605

This is accounted for by the fact that the figures shown in the fourth and seventh columns of TABLES X to XIII represent, not the total of emigrants in each period, but the numbers of persons emigrating in each five-year period who were alive at the end of that period.

In each of the periods the loss of population through emigration was mainly concentrated in the young adult age groups. Thus, emigration between 1956 and 1961 accounted for the loss of 33 percent of the males and 30 percent of the females in the age group 20 to 24 years. In the periods 1946-51, 1951-56 and 1956-61 the number of female emigrants in the 15 to 19 year group was greater than that of males. In the most recent period, however, the loss by emigration of boys in this age group was very slightly above that of girls.

The extent of migration at the later age groups is difficult to determine precisely, as mis-statements of age at the Census enumeration are more common in the case of elderly persons. Such mis-statements, as well as giving rise to errors in the numbers in the later age groups, also affect the Life Table mortality rates, thereby introducing inaccuracies into the calculation of proportions surviving. Although some of the difference between the actual and expected numbers at the later ages may be accounted for in this way, it appears from TABLES X to XIII that a fairly substantial immigration of elderly persons has taken place in each of the four intercensal periods, particularly at ages 70 to 74 years.
