CENSUS OF POPULATION OF IRELAND 1979

EXPLANATORY NOTES

A Census of Population was taken on the night of 1 April, 1979 in accordance with the Statistics (Census of Population) Order, 1979.*

This present Volume contains detailed results involving classifications of the population by age, sex and marital status. It is expected that Volume III of the 1979 Census Report, containing detailed classifications by type and size of households, will be issued later in 1981.†

Coverage of the Census

The Census figures relate to the de facto population, that is to say the population recorded for each area represents the total of all persons present within its boundaries on the night of Sunday, 1 April, 1979, together with all persons who arrived in that area on the morning of Monday, 2 April, 1979, not having been enumerated elsewhere; persons on board ships in port are included with the population of adjacent areas. The figures, therefore, include visitors present on Census night as well as those in residence, while usual residents temporarily absent from the State are excluded. The date of the Census was, however, chosen to coincide with a period when passenger movements were at a minimum and consequently the figures closely approximate to those for the normally resident population. Members of the Defence Forces who, on Census night, were serving abroad with the United Nations were excluded from the enumeration.

Content of the Tables

Tables 1A, 1B, 1C contain classifications of persons, males and females respectively according to five year age groups and by marital status; corresponding data from previous Censuses since 1926 are also shown. Table 2 shows the percentage single for five year age groups from age 15 onwards, for males and females. Tables 3 and 4 show, for five year age groups, how the population structure has developed since the 1946 Census. Tables 5A, 5B, 6A, 6B, 7 allow comparisons to be made between counties of the distribution of the population by age group, sex and marital status and also of the ratio of females to males. Tables 8, 9A, 9B contain various classifications of the population by sex, single year of age and marital status. Table 10 classifies the population by sex and year of birth. Tables 11A, 11B classify the population by sex and by single year of age, 0 to 69 years, for counties, county boroughs, provinces and planning regions. Tables 12A, 12B classify the population of counties, county boroughs and planning regions by sex and marital status by those five year age groups usually used for the presentation of results, while Table 12C presents similar results for those five year age groups suitable for cohort analysis for the period 1971 to 1979. Table 13 classifies the population by sex, age group and marital status for urban and rural districts, showing also legal towns within rural districts.

*The Statistics (Census of Population) Order, 1979 (S.I. No. 55 of 1979) was made by the Taoiseach in pursuance of powers conferred on him by Sub-Section (1) of Section 16 of the Statistics Act, 1926 and the Statistics Acts, 1926 and 1946 (Transfer of Ministerial Functions) Order, 1949 (S.I. No. 142 of 1949).

†Publications already issued include a preliminary report "Census of Population 1979 - Preliminary Report (Prl. 8306)"; Volume 1 containing final population figures for detailed units of area - "Census of Population 1979 - Volume 1 - Population of District Electoral Divisions, Towns and larger units of area (Prl. 8692)"; and a bulletin "Census of Population 1979 - Bulletin No. 1 - Classifications by age group, sex and marital status for the State, Counties and County Boroughs (Prl. 9402)" which contained some of the more important results presented again in this Volume.

SUMMARY OF THE RESULTS

Over the eight year period from April 1971 to April 1979 the total population increased by 390,000, or 13.1 per cent. The rates of change varied very considerably between different age groups as these reflect the combined effect of the natural progression from one age group to another together with births, deaths and migration in the period. Table A following contains an overall summary of the principal results according to broad age groups. The largest increase in population over the period 1971-79 occurred in the 15-29 year age group where the total population grew by 167,000 or over 25 per cent. There was an increase of similar proportions (23 per cent) in the 30 - 44 year age group while for the youngest and oldest age categories, less than 14 years and 65 years and over, the increases in population were of the order of 10 per cent. The population actually fell slightly for persons aged between 45 and 64 years (by over 12,000 or 2 per cent) - this is due in some part to the onward movement (in age) of the population in the age group categories which were heavily depleted during the periods of high net emigration in the late 1950's.

*To facilitate comparisons with previous intercensal periods the percentage changes for the period 1971-79 shown in the final column of this Table have been converted to a five year basis.

The final three columns of Table A contain percentage changes for the three most recent intercensal periods and here the changes for 1971-79 have been converted to a five year basis to facilitate comparisons. With the exception of the 45 to 64 year age group, which showed a decline in population, the rate of increase for all other age groups was considerably more rapid between 1971 and 1979 than between 1966 and 1971. The most noteworthy feature is for the 30 to 44 year age group where the increase of nearly 14 per cent for the 1971-79 period is in contrast to a decline of just over 2 per cent in the preceding intercensal period. This significant change is attributable in part to the sizeable net inflow of population from outside the State which occurred over the latter period (see Table G); about one half of the actual increase of 105,000 in this age category over the period 1971-79 can be accounted for by a net external inflow. The net inflow of population has also contributed significantly to the increases in population for the 0 to 14 years and 65 year and over age categories.

The effect of the changing numbers in the different age groups on the overall age structure of the total population is shown in Table B following:-

TABLE B - PERCENTAGE DISTRIBUTION OF POPULATION IN CERTAIN AGE GROUPS - 1926 TO 1979

Year	0-14 years	15-29 years	30-44 years	45-64 years	65 years and over	"Dependent" Groups, 0-14 years and 65 years and over
1926	29.2	25.0	17.8	18.9	9.1	38.3
1936	27.6	24.9	18.1	19.6	9.7	37.3
1946	27.9	23.4	19.0	19.1	10.6	38.5
1951	28.9	21.7	19.3	19.4	10.7	39.6
1961	31.1	19.1	17.4	21.3	11.2	42.3
1966	31.2	20.6	16.1	20.9	11.2	42.4
1971	31.3	22.0	15.2	20.4	11.1	42.3
1979	30.6	24.4	16.6	17.7	10.7	41.3

Between 1971 and 1979 young adults (i.e. those in the 15 to 29 year age group) formed an increasing proportion of the total population, continuing a pattern of change shown in the two previous Censuses - the percentage has increased steadily from 19.1 per cent in 1961 to 24.4 per cent in 1979. The proportion in the 30 to 44 year age group also increased between 1971 and 1979 in contrast to the three preceding intercensal periods when the proportion declined steadily. The actual numbers in the 45 to 64 year age group have shown only slight changes since 1961 and with the total population increasing in size this has meant a continuing decline in the percentage of the total population in this age group since 1961, being particularly evident since 1971.

The proportion of the total population accounted for by the two remaining age groups - those aged less than 15 years and aged 65 years and over - decreased somewhat between 1971 and 1979. Consequently the aggregate of these "dependent groups" formed a smaller proportion of the total population in 1979 than they did in 1971 (See the final column of Table B).

Age Distribution by County

Table C following illustrates the extent to which the age structure of the population varies from county to county:-

The proportion of the population under 15 years of age is lowest for Dun Laoghaire Borough and Dublin County Borough where the figures of 28.4 and 30.3 for 1971 have fallen to 24.6 and 25.5 respectively in 1979. This proportion is highest at 37.0 for Dublin County (excl. Dun Laoghaire). Along the west coast this proportion tended to be low with little change occurring since 1971, Donegal and Clare being exceptions for which the 1971 figures for 29.2 and 29.1 increased to 31.1 and 30.7 respectively in 1979. The proportion of persons in the 15-44 year age group has increased for all areas since 1971 and ranges from a low of 34.4 for Leitrim up to 45.9 for Dublin County (excl. Dun Laoghaire). The proportion of persons in the 45-64 year age group has decreased for all areas since 1971 with the exception of Dublin County Borough where a marginal increase was recorded. For Dublin County (excl. Dun Laoghaire) less than 1 in 20 of the population was aged 65 years or over, while at the other end of the scale the corresponding figure for Leitrim was greater than 1 in 6.

The Sex Ratio

At each Census there has been an excess of males in the population as a whole. However the number of females per 1,000 males varies between the different age groups. The ratios are compared in Table D for each Census since 1926:-

TABLE D: - FEMALES PER 1,000 MALES - 1926 TO 1979.

Year	All ages	0-14 years	15-29 years	30-44 years	45-64 years	65 years and over
1926	972	965	967	986	917	1,113
1936	952	970	916	961	928	1,034
1946	977	964	974	968	984	1,020
1951	965	959	941	957	971	1,041
1961	990	955	967	1,027	972	1,110
1966	990	960	960	1,008	972	1,154
1971	991	957	961	981	986	1,189
1979	989	954	961	949	1,004	1,217

There were 989 females per 1,000 males in the State in 1979, a figure which has shown almost no change since 1961. In the 0-14 year and 15-29 year age groups the ratio of females to males did not change greatly compared with preceding Censuses, but the sharp decline in the ratio which had been experienced in the 30-44 year age group since the 1961 Census, when the ratio was 1,027, has continued and has now reached 949. In the 45-64 year and 65 years and over age groups the increasing trend in the ratio of females to males has been maintained.

Marital Status

Returns on marital status were sought on the basis of "present legal status" with provision for 4 categories - "single", "married", "widowed" and "other status". Some 7,624 persons returned themselves as "other status". Many of these entered further information (e.g. "separated", "deserted", "annulled") which indicated that the appropriate "present legal status" was "married". It was therefore decided to include all persons returning themselves as "other status" with the "married" category in the tabulations. Particulars of age distribution and geographic distribution are given in Appendix A for those 7,624 persons returned as "other status".

*To facilitate comparison with previous intercensal periods the percentage changes for the period 1971-79 shown in the final column of the Table have been converted to a five year basis.

Table E gives information on the total population aged 15 years and over for each of the Census years from 1961 to 1979 classified by marital status. The final three columns of the table contain percentage changes for each intercensal period and here the changes for the period 1971-79 have been converted to a 5 year basis to facilitate comparisons with the two preceding periods. Between 1971 and 1979 the overall population aged 15 years and over increased at a much more rapid pace than in the preceding periods (by over 14 per cent in actual terms or approximately 8½ per cent on an adjusted 5 year basis) and this in turn is reflected in the changes for the different marital status categories. For both males and females the number of single persons increased by between 8 and 9 per cent between 1971 and 1979 in contrast to a slight decline in the preceding intercensal period. The number of married persons increased very substantially, by about 20 per cent or, on a five year basis by some 12 per cent as shown on the final column of the table. This represents an accelerated rate of increase in relation to the period 1966-71 when the increases were between 7 or 8 per cent. The number of males who were widowed continued to decline during the period 1971-79 while the number of widowed females increased.

Table F shows the percentage of the population who were single in different age groups for 1979 and for earlier Censuses in so far as the figures are available back to the year 1841:

*Age groupings for 1841 were 26-35, 36-45, 46-55 and 56 and over.

†Particulars not available

For both males and females there has been a continuing decrease in the proportion single in virtually all age groups, but most particularly in the 25 to 34 year and 35 to 44 year age groups between 1971 and 1979. For example, in the 35 to 44 age group, the proportion single fell from 29 to 21 per cent for males and from 18 to 12 per cent for females. This implies substantial increases in the proportion of married persons in these age groups which, when considered in conjunction with the rapid rise in the actual population, emphasises the considerable increase between 1971 and 1979 in the number of married persons aged 25 to 44 years - from 204,000 to 290,000 for males and from 239,000 to 317,000 for females.

Net Migration*

In the interval between the 1971 and 1979 Censuses the total population increased by 390,000. In the same period births exceeded deaths by 281,000. The difference of 109,000 is a measure of the overall level of net immigration, that is the excess of inward migration over outward migration.

The availability of the 1979 Census results by age groups makes it possible to analyse further this measure of population movement by deriving estimates of net migration for each age cohort i.e. for each group of persons born in a specific period. This is done by comparing the actual numbers in the particular age group at the 1979 Census with the numbers in the same cohort of the 1971 Census having first allowed for deaths over the eight years. The results are set out in Table G. Interpretation is perhaps made easier if described in terms of year of birth. For example the figures shown in the table for males in the 10 to 14 age group relate to persons born between April 1965 and April 1969 and yield an estimated net inflow of 11,600 between 1971 and 1979.

There are two important points to be kept in mind in interpreting the migration figures given. Firstly it must be stressed that in each case the figures represent a net flow reflecting the difference between inward and outward movements of population. Secondly the presentation of the results is in terms of the effect of migration on the numbers recorded in the 1979 Census in the different age groups and not in terms of a net number migrating at a particular age. The appropriate age group at time of migration may be the same as the relevant age group in April 1979 or it may be a preceding one.

†Effect of migration on the numbers recorded in the age group at the 1979 Census; this is not the same as the number migrating at that age.

*Estimates of total net migration for males and females, for the State as a whole and for different areas, were contained in Volume I of the 1979 Census Report.

The period 1971-79 was characterised by a substantial net inflow of population estimated at 61,300 males and 47,700 females. The net inflow was particularly marked in the very young age groups and accounted for almost 50,000 of persons under 15 years in April 1979. Age groups over 30 years also showed a substantial net gain from migration flows particularly the 30-44 groups which were 54,000 higher as a result. When the substantial net inflow figures for the very young age groups are also taken into account they suggest that many of the inward migrants consisted of family groups. While there were some 6,500 more persons in the 15-19 age group in 1979 because of the effects of migration there was, in contrast, a considerable net outflow totalling over 25,000 for the 20-29 age group.

The effect of the migration pattern is broadly similar in magnitude for males and females for age groups up to 29 years and for persons aged 65 years and over. However for cohorts aged between 30 and 64 years in 1979 even though there was a substantial net inflow of approximately 24,800 for females, this was not as large as the net inflow of 38,500 for males.

Calculations similar to those used in deriving the estimates in Table G were carried out for previous intercensal periods. In Table H the results for the intercensal periods since 1961 are compared for broad age groups. The results for the period 1971-79 have been adjusted as far as possible to a five year basis to facilitate comparisons with the earlier intercensal periods shown.
